Dear Charles,

Your Center for Curriculum Redesign shares the goals of Harvard's Mind, Brain, and Education initiative, in creating new practices for effective education in the 21st century and crafting an educational agenda that is flexible and broad - going beyond the traditional, limited views of educational practice and policy.

As such, I will be pleased to work with you on what students need to know and do, to adapt creatively and successfully to the rapid changes in educational needs of societies around the globe. I look forward to continuing to work together and to serving on the Board of Advisors of the Center for Curriculum Redesign.

Best regards,

Kurt W. Fischer, Ph.D.
