Dear Charles,

It would be a great pleasure for the International Baccalaureate to have the opportunity to participate in the activities of the Center for Curriculum Redesign.

It is important that curriculum and assessment are continuously refined so that teachers can provide the best possible education to prepare young people for their future. The Center for Curriculum Redesign plays an important role in enabling collaboration between schools, organizations and universities to research, develop and support exemplary and innovative learning and assessment. The IB will benefit from contributing to, as well as learning from and with, your group.

I look forward to the fruits of this collaboration.

With best regards,

Dr Siva Kumari
Director General
